GE appliances offer a wide selection of features, finishes and performance

package ordering

What is package ordering?

An ordering tool that allows builders to place appliance orders by package name (MOO's—or installation codes and accessories included) via Cnet, ICR or phone. Upgrades and options to the package can still be ordered. All packages contain the following appliances: Electric or Gas Range, Dishwasher, Over-the-range Microwave and Refrigerator.

Who will utilize package ordering?

- Builders that use a standard package with step-up packages (Hotpoint® Value, Hotpoint Good, GE® Good and GE Best)
- Builders that want to simplify their ordering process.
- Builders who prefer to order by package name.

Why sell package ordering?

- Simplified ordering process!
- Better order accuracy!
- Value added service to your customer!
- Increased selling time!
- Improved availability on package models!

How do you sell package ordering?

- Focus on making life easier for the builder... less steps = time saved = money saved!
- Allows the builder to focus on selling homes, not on selling appliances!
- Customer orders by package name.

package set-up

It's easy with this simple, four-step process

1. Establish with your customer which products and services will be included in the package.
2. Describe the packages and their names, so they'll be clear when it's time to order.
3. Set up packages via CustomerNet or forward the package information to @cons/ind Forum ICR Help or fax to 800.523.7281 /Attn. GEA Forum Pkg. Reference 4.12 in the bundle book or use the form on the next page of this brochure.
4. Once confirmation has been received that package creation is complete, advise the person placing the orders that they can now order package via ICR, CustomerNet or telephone.
